ECCB2018 IN A NUTSHELL

When:

June 12–15, 2018

Where:

Jyväskylä Paviljonki,
40101 Jyväskylä, Finland

What and Who:

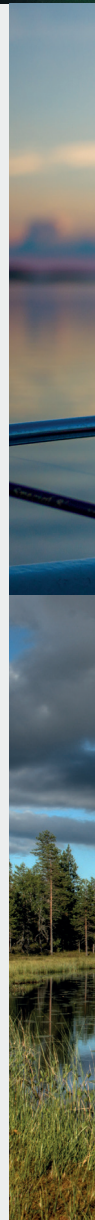

European Congress for Conservation Biology (ECCB2018), the theme of which is planetary wellbeing – a concept that captures the wellbeing of people as well as the integrity and sustainability of Earth's ecosystems. ECCB2018 provides a forum to discuss and develop solutions for some of the greatest challenges faced by humanity by bringing together 1000-1200 professors and other academics in natural and social sciences, practitioners, industry members, government administrators and decision-makers.

We will offer cutting edge plenary sessions ranging from conceptual developments in the field of conservation science to the practice of establishing conservation areas to the importance of ecopoetry and ecocritisims in changing the world. We aspire to balance human resource exploitation and nature conservation to ensure planetary wellbeing. Discussions and developments will take place in symposiums and workshops as well as during the dedicated stakeholder day, the theme of which is ecological compensations also known as biodiversity offsetting.

Partner with Us

The ECCB2018 invites you to partner with the 5th European Congress of Conservation Biology. Society for Conservation Biology (SCB) is a global community of nearly 5,000 members from over 140 countries dedicated to advancing the science and practice of conserving Earth's biological diversity. SCB congresses are recognized as the most important global venue for presenting and discussing new research and developments in conservation science and practice. Most importantly, the congresses connect our global community of conservation professionals and serve as the major networking outlook for anyone interested in conservation and planetary wellbeing.

By sponsoring the congress, you will make a difference by helping to maintain the integrity and sustainability of Earth's ecosystems and thus ensuring a healthy planet for the future generations – a mission that matters.
